SYNOPSIS	Set behind-the-scenes on the Great White Way, this is an exciting revival of the dance film as it tells of how a womanizing, arrogant dancer gets his just desserts and learns the hard way to treat his partners with more respect. Nick has been a hooper for many years and subconsciously knows the curtain is slowly closing on his career. Still he refuses to bow and exit gracefully. Meanwhile, at home, his lover Amy, a dancer turned physical therapist, is pressuring him to marry her, but Nick is afraid to commit and continues to see other women on the side. Thus the stage is set for his downfall and ultimately, his redemption. Exciting choreography by famed Broadway dance director Donald Byrd of the new Broadway show "The Color Purple".
DVD SPECIAL FEATURES	Special Edition DVD presented for the first time. Includes letterboxed presentation, behind the scenes featurette, deleted scenes, trailers, still gallery and biographies. (subject to change)
