Synopsis

What does it mean to live in a reality of your own making? This strange, chilling and compelling documentary explores this questions by following three members of "Second Life" who reincarnated themselves into a world created out of fantasy in which they have complete control.

Kris is a Gorean Master, controlling his sex slaves from his own bedroom. Benjamin has an enormous religious following, preaching sermons to an adoring crowd. Markus is a cat, the way he has always seen himself.

By the end of this award winning documentary, the lines between fantasy and reality become blurred and obscured, and its subjects must reconcile between the world created in their minds and the realities of everyday life.
