Synopsis

1900s, Seoul, Korean Empire. A Hong Jin-ho (Hwang Jung-min) is a down and out detective. Makes most of his catching cheating spouses.

Until a corpse is discovered in the woods. A rich man's son is dead and the killer must be found.

Gwang-soo, a medical student, teams up with Jin-ho to solve the murder. But what they discover is a conspiracy far more evil and sinister than anything they imagined. "Private Eye" is film noir at its apex, South Korea's answer to "Sherlock Holmes".
