SYNOPSIS:

Sia left Iran years ago illegally and lives in Sweden with his wife and two children. Realizing he wants to go back for a visit, he decides the best place to go is a free port, an island, which does not require a visa. But being there does not fully satisfy his nostalgic longing; his old home is on the mainland. Danger will confront him if he returns. He must decide what is most important: his future or his past.

"Mousaian's second feature is a personal breakthrough... in its depiction of a modern man alone and nearly suicidal".

-Robert Koehler, Variety
