Synopsis

Mousy office girl Junko (Norie Yasui) has long been dominated by her sexually active mom (Makiko Watanabe). Although withdrawn and shy, Junko finds very unlikely liberation from a porn promoter, who asks her the key question that opens her up to a new world: "Wouldn't it be fun if you could become someone else?" This someone else, suggested by the director of her first porn shoot, is a blue-haired, sailor suit wearing otaku character named "Lulu." Junko embodies the role quickly, reveling in the double life she leads and her secret satisfaction that she is not the worthless person her mother thinks she is; strangers watch her, desire her, and send her fan letters. But Lulu is beginning to find herself transforming deeper into her alter ego, "Lulu." Can she balance the identities before it's too late?
